

DISTANCE LEARNING at RPCS¹

Purpose

RPCS is committed to continuing our dynamic and rigorous educational experience in the event that we need to close the school for an extended period of time. The learning plan below outlines the age appropriate ways each division will use digital and traditional resources to provide your child with a meaningful learning experience for the duration of any potential closure. While not an exact substitute for classroom learning, we strive to maintain productive and developmentally appropriate lessons using a broad range of resources, approaches and methodologies. We look forward to partnering with you on this endeavor.

For division specific plans, including daily schedules, please see:

Lower School p. 4 (daily schedule pp 6 - 8)

Middle School p. 9 (daily schedule pp 13 - 14)

Upper School p. 15 (daily schedule pp 18 - 19)

Guidelines for Parents/Guardians

We understand that a shift to a distance learning approach will require our teachers, students and families to make adjustments. Yet a continued partnership with parents and guardians can play a vital part of ensuring the success of the plan. Division heads, teachers, learning support staff, and counselors are all available to support and guide students should they need help. Below are some guidelines for parents/guardians to enable students to become successful at distance learning:

Establish a Regular Schedule for Your Child and Stay Engaged with their Learning: Once distance learning is initiated by the School, it will be important for parents/guardians to help students establish and maintain a routine and structure for their day, beginning with a regular bedtime and wake-up time each day. While some of our students may want to stay up late and sleep in, establishing a regular school day routine will help your child retain a sense of normalcy and stay engaged in learning. Be sure to help your child build in “brain breaks” during the school day, encouraging them to stand up and move around so they are not remaining sedentary throughout the day. Begin and close each “school day” with a brief check-in as well as checking in throughout the day at regular intervals to ensure that your child is successfully engaging in distance learning. Reach out to your child’s teacher if you observe your child struggling to stay focused. Setting clear expectations with your child about regular school day hours will help your child maintain a schedule and stay on top of his/her schoolwork.

Create a Study Space for Your Child: Productive learning relies on a conducive environment. We recommend that you create a separate, quiet space in your home for your child to study. The family room sofa with close proximity to a television or your child’s bedroom may not be the optimal place for your child to learn. We recommend that you choose an open area in the family living space (kitchen table, dining room, etc.) to avoid isolating your child and to allow parents/guardians to monitor your child's learning and screen activity. A room with strong wireless connection will also be important.

Stay in Communication with your Child's Teachers and Advisors: Your child's teachers, advisors and the division heads will maintain regular communication with parents/guardians. The frequency of the communications will depend on your child's age, developmental stage, and level of independence. While teachers and advisors are available as resources for your child and for you, please keep in mind that they will need to be in regular email communication with all of their families (depending on the grade and class, some teachers teach more than 60 students) and many are also caring for their own young children at home. So, we ask that you be mindful when communicating with teachers and advisors striving to be succinct and focusing on the essential.

Encourage Independence and Allow for Productive Struggle: Stay engaged in your child's learning by asking them questions and having them share their thoughts while encouraging their independence so they can take ownership of their own learning. Some productive struggle is essential to learning, so we ask that parents allow their children to grapple with problems and come up with ideas for tackling them. Stepping in too quickly to help solve problems will deprive your child of the opportunity to learn, try new approaches, and gain greater independence and confidence. If your child becomes discouraged and/or overwhelmed by schoolwork, please reach out to your child's teachers.

Help your Child Maintain Social Contact with Peers: It will be very important for your child to stay in social contact through virtual means with their friends and peers during the campus closure. Encourage your child to interact with friends through Microsoft Teams or through phone conversations. They can form study groups created by their teachers or informal groups that they develop on their own. Social interactions, even through virtual means, will help your child stay connected and feel a part of the School community. Please follow age guidelines/laws when deciding to give your child access to a social media platform. Finally, it is your responsibility to monitor that your child uses social media appropriately. The RPCS Acceptable Use Policy can be found in the divisional handbooks located in the myRPCS divisional Virtual Offices.

Encourage Physical Activity and Movement and Monitor Student Stress: Our physical education teachers, coaches and dance teachers will develop online instructional guides for students. Physical movement and exercise are vital to maintaining physical and mental health, reducing stress and anxiety, and improving concentration and focus for more effective learning and retention. Parents should monitor student stress levels and reach out to the divisional counselors for advice as needed.

ACADEMIC FAQs

How will the School ensure that my child is continuing to learn? Teachers have been working closely with administrators and academic technology coordinators to develop lesson plans using online platforms and digital resources to ensure continuity of learning for students. Students will continue to be engaged with their teachers through a range of methods, including video, online discussions, and email. Teachers, administrators, advisors, and the learning support team will be available to communicate with students and parents on an ongoing and regular basis during the campus closure to ensure that individual student learning needs are being met.

How will my child be graded? Will my child earn credits towards graduation? All students will continue to be assessed for their schoolwork as outlined in divisional handbooks. Divisional handbooks can be found on myRPCS in the divisional Virtual Offices. Teachers will ensure that meaningful learning is taking place and use a range of approaches to assess student learning and determine student grades. Grades will be entered into report cards and, for Upper School students, on official academic transcripts, adhering to the academic calendar deadlines and schedule.

What resources are available to my child if she begins to face challenges with learning? Your child's teacher or advisor is the first resource for your child if she faces learning difficulties. In addition to your child's teacher, learning specialists are available to provide support for your child. If your child begins to struggle with learning, please reach out to your child's teacher, advisor and division head so we can put additional supports in place.

My child is becoming extremely anxious about the situation that has led to the campus closure. What resources does the School have to support my child? Children who experience heightened anxiety should consult with their pediatricians and/or psychologists. Our school counselors can offer referrals to parents and can coordinate with outside providers. During the campus closure, parents/guardians should monitor students' mental health and seek outside support as needed.

My child utilizes the Learning Support personnel at RPCS. Prolonged campus closure will make learning very difficult for my child. What support can the School provide? The School's learning support teachers can provide additional support for students and will set up regular opportunities to touch base and support your child. Please contact them directly with individual questions.

My child is not feeling well and is not able to engage in learning. Is there a way to report an absence so she won't be penalized for not engaging in distance learning? If your child becomes ill while the School is using a distance learning approach, use the established protocols for reporting your child's "absence" from School. Your child's teacher or advisor will work with your child and with you to ensure that she is able to make up any missed work and provide necessary extensions for assignment deadlines.

STUDENTS AND FAMILIES

All students are expected to participate in distance learning during a campus closure. For many learning activities, students will work independently at their own pace with assigned deadlines. In exceptional circumstances or illness, parents of students who are unable to participate should notify the School as they would for any school absence. Exceptional circumstances will be given special consideration.

If a student is “absent” because of illness, parents/guardians must communicate with the Middle School Assistant and then the Middle School Assistant will send the normal communication to all faculty via email.

For make-up work, the MS will follow modified expectations from the handbook:

1. If you are absent, you are responsible for making arrangements with your teachers on the day of your return to distance learning to make up the work you have missed.
2. Generally, you have twice the number of school calendar days as you were absent to make up your work. There are some exceptions to this general rule.
3. If you are absent one day and miss a test given on that day, you must email the teacher the day you return to distance learning to schedule a make-up test.
4. If you are absent on the day a major project is due, you are still required to turn in your project the next day.
5. If you miss a quiz or other written class work, you must make up that work under arrangements made individually with the teacher.

Any exceptions to these procedures are at the discretion of the teacher and will be shared with the MS Head.

Family Roles and Responsibilities

We ask that families play a significant role in ensuring that their children follow the program. Please be proactive in contacting the appropriate people if you run into challenges.

- Establish routines and expectations for your student
- Establish beginning and end-of-day check-ins
- Help create a distraction-free place to work
- Monitor communications from teachers, advisors, and RPCS
- Partner with your student's teachers and reach out via email should challenges arise
- Help your student to plan out their work for the day and check-in to keep them focused and on task
- Take an active role in learning and assist walking through instructions when needed
- Allow your student to solve challenging assignments themselves, leaning into "productive challenge"
- Monitor your student's screen time
- Set clear rules around using technology for social interactions and monitor their usage
- Be a calm presence and supportive learning partner
